YUKON AVE. TO GET LAST HEARING

The Yukon avenue rezoning issue which has run into an unusual number of procedural obstacles and public controversy, will be heard for the final time before the City Council Tuesday, December 8. North Torrance residents, who nearly filled the Council chambers last Tuesday evening, were rallying forces this week to present protests or approvals of a proposed rezoning of portions of Yukon avenue for apartment house development. Next week's hearing will climax a drawn-out series of discussions and revisions on the proposal to convert a portion of Yukon avenue to R-3 zone from its present R-1.

Immediate action looking toward the construction of sewers in Milton Street in the Torrance areas was ordered by Supervisor Burton W. Chace, Tuesday. Chace's action was taken following report of the County Engineer and Surveyor when more than sixty per cent of the property owners in the area had petitioned for construction of the sewers.

County Plans Street Stops

Establishment of new boulevard stop regulations in the communities of Dominguez and Lomita has been recommended by the Los Angeles County Traffic Committee. It was disclosed today by Supervisor Burton W. Chace. The Committee urged installation of stop signs on each side of 223rd Street at all intersections from Moneta Avenue to and including Alameda Street with the exception of its intersection with Main Street. In order to properly control a cross conflict hazard at a high accident frequency intersection, the establishment of boulevard stops was recommended on each side of 250th Street at its intersection with Cypress in Lomita.
